If you could only attend one more concert for the rest of your life, who would you see?

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. The message mentioned the importance of not reacting but responding carefully to criticism. Can you share a time when you successfully applied this principle, or perhaps a time when you wish you had?
2. Proverbs 19:11 speaks about the glory of overlooking an offense. How can we practice this kind of forgiveness in real-time in our daily interactions?
3. Pastor Byron noted how criticism often reveals more about the critic than the person being criticized. How can understanding this help us respond with compassion rather than defensiveness?
4. How can we discern the "ounce of truth" in criticism, and why is it important for our personal growth and development?
5. Discuss the impact of a critical spirit on relationships and personal well-being. How can we guard our hearts against developing such a spirit?
