DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. What does the phrase "What you do today will be someone's reason for hope tomorrow" mean to you personally, and how can you apply it in your daily life, beyond your financial resources and generosity?
2. Are there areas of your life that are aligned with temporary comforts rather than eternal values? What changes can you make to re-align with the eternal?
3. Pastor Byron shared a few stories of life-change that have been experienced at C3. Do you have first hand knowledge or personal stories you can share about the impact C3 has had on your life or others?
4. Celebrating baptism at C3 is always such an encouragement. If you've been baptized, share about your experience, and the reason behind your decision?
